

JOHNSON KEPT AT NRA HELM

President Asks Fiery General to Remain at Present Post and Direct Reorganization of Agency

BLUE EAGLE CHIEF SMILES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—Hugh S. Johnson will continue at NRA's helm for an indefinite period.

"The President asked me to go right on," Johnson said today after a conference with Mr. Roosevelt.

The presidential word was accepted as a command by the militant administrator who for more than a year has personified the blue eagle to American industry. Apparently the White House expression put a halt to Johnson's own desires for a quick return to private life.

But if Johnson was disappointed at the thought of a longer tenure directing industry, his smile on leaving the White House didn't show it. He said he was ready to go ahead and reorganize NRA in a way to "de-personalize" the government's industrial machinery.

"We are working out a reorganization plan," Johnson said.

But just now Johnson looks toward a vacation. He plans to leave next Wednesday with Mrs. Johnson for a nearby seaside resort and—

BAPTIST HOME HEAD MYSTERIOUSLY SHOT

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 18 (AP)—The Rev. O. M. Huey, superintendent of the Louisville Baptist Orphan's Home, tonight was recovering from a bullet wound in the right shoulder, fired yesterday afternoon by an unknown person as the train on which he was a passenger was leaving London, Ky.

An attending physician said the wound was not serious. Railroad officials asked London authorities to investigate.

at President Roosevelt's direction—take a rest.

Board control of NRA is the reorganization plan being drafted by Johnson. He has announced his willingness, and today's White House meeting apparently confirmed it, to act as chairman of the board.

"NRA is too big a job now for one man," is Johnson's view.

Some skeptical eyebrows were raised at NRA at the thought of Johnson's "de-personalizing" his blue eagle organization through a board of which he would be head.

A lot of his co-workers couldn't quite conceive of Johnson serving as the board's chairman without completely dominating it with his forceful personality. This probably would be true if the board were composed of experienced NRA personnel.

If possible, Johnson would make his board chairmanship a part-time job in the plan he hopes to put before Mr. Roosevelt in three weeks. Then he would like to see reorganization completed in two or three months.

Of major importance in the project is harmonizing NRA with the anti-trust laws. Johnson, a staunch advocate of government-controlled competition as opposed to unbridled competition, is co-operating with Donald R. Richberg, director of the national emergency council, in seeking machinery to reconcile the conflict.

At present the NRA administration foresees some kind of administrative agency standing as a buffer between NRA and the federal trade commission which has jurisdiction of anti-trust law cases. This new institution would seek to mould a uniform policy.

279 STUDENTS TO RECEIVE AID

FERA Funds Available for 186 Men and 93 Women at University This School Year

MANY SEEK OUTSIDE JOBS

Federal aid for students who will enter the University of Kentucky this fall has been provided for 186 men, 93 of whom must, according to the government, be new students, and 93 old students, while aid for women students has been provided to the extent of 93. According to Dean T. T. Jones, dean of men at the university, 500 applicants have already been received, from new men students wishing FERA assistance, out of which he has already selected two-thirds of the allotment of 93.

The places for the 93 old students which Dean Jones has still to assign to the men will be given to those students who were on the federal aid list last year at the university, and those students who were registered at the university last year and who can prove themselves worthy of assistance. The assignment of the places to old students will be made the week of September 3, and Dean Jones requests that all university men students in need of FERA help report to his office that week so that the selections may be made in time for the men to report for work the week of September 10.

The government classes federal aid in two categories, the new students consisting of high school graduates and those students not in school last January, and those who were in school last year. The preference among the students classed as "old students," will be given to those on the FERA list last year.

Realizing the number of men who will necessarily have to be refused aid because of the abundance of applicants for limited jobs, the university is anxious to place as many boys as possible in part-time positions in the city. It has also been suggested that any citizen wishing to aid in this project of helping students through college might contribute book scholarships which will enable worthy boys and girls to buy their text books.

Breckinridge hall, one of the three residence halls for men at the university has been reserved for freshmen boys, according to Dean Jones, and applications for rooms may be had by sending $5 deposit with letter of application to the office of the dean of men. All the halls have been renovated and freshly painted, and Kinkhead hall is already reserved to its capacity with several openings still remaining in Bradley hall.

Senator "Kingfish" Long Assumes Complete Dictatorship of Louisiana; Serious Trouble at Polls in Offing

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 18 (AP)—Senator Huey P. Long today assumed the complete dictatorship of Louisiana.

The legislature, which concluded a five-day special session this morning, had made him:

1. Commander of an army.
2. Controller of elections.
3. Referee in an investigation of the hostile New Orleans government.
4. Overlord of taxes.
5. Dispenser of reprisals.
6. Suppressor of gambling.
7. Prosecutor of crime and.
8. Disarmer of enemy police.

The powers were legally vested in Gov. O. K. Allen, but Senator Long need only say "frog," and the governor "hops."

An important minority did a lot of talking during the session of "armed revolution," "bloodshed," "anarchy," and of general chaos and demoralization, but supposedly liberal farmers failed to arrive with pitchforks and shotguns "to set things right."

There was spluttering invective and high-sounding and dangerously worded assaults from opposing political camps—especially that of Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, of New Orleans—but everyday citizens just sat back and looked on curiously.

Mayor Walmsley, speaking for the opposition, said today that if "armed" "henchmen" of Senator Long appeared at the polls in the September 11 congressional primary they would be arrested.

Detective Expresses Opinion That North Carolina Pastor "Imagined" That He Was Kidnaped From Home

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 18 (AP)—Questions insinuating that R. H. Askew, "four-square gospel" evangelist from Goldsboro, N. C., had "imagined" the story he was kidnaped by three men at Raleigh and held captive for four days were asked him late today.

While insisting in reply to one question that he had been kidnaped, Askew agreed in response to another that he might have suffered a nervous breakdown.

It was the opinion of Chief of Detectives Elkin Lewis that Askew had had a nervous breakdown. He declined, however, to comment on the story told by the 28-year-old minister.

W. A. Rorer, special agent of the department of justice in charge of the Nashville office, made no comment on the case.

The detective chief told Askew that both the government and the detective department were ready for him to return to North Carolina and it was decided to get in touch with Mrs. Askew at Goldsboro.

"Do you have a telephone in your home?" Lewis asked, and received the reply, "I believe we do."

Lewis pressed to ascertain definitely whether there was a phone in his home and developed that the Askews lived in a house with another family. A call was placed for Mrs. Askew, and Askew talked.

"I feel awfully weak," Askew said into the telephone. "My head is just in a whirl. I feel like I'm sinking." He asked her to send him a ticket and said he thought it best to go by train "as I feel so weak. I think I had better get a berth."

He told Lewis his wife had agreed to provide transportation.

THREE TRAPPED UNDER DEBRIS

Chimney Falls at Michigan Infirmary; Paralyzed Male Inmate is Killed; Two Other Believed Dead

LIGHTNING HITS CHIMNEY

Ice and fire officials said it would take several hours to get through to them through the wreckage.

Jarvis was killed as he stood near a window on the second floor of the men's dormitory in the rear part of the building. Part of the roof of the men's section was ripped away by tons of falling brick, and Jarvis was caught in the debris that made a shambles of his room.

The list of injured include: Ellen Kallanen, Mary Leary, Mrs. Philomina Peters, Mrs. Minnie Johnson, Mary Schockel, and Mrs. Anna Pikkarainen.

The women still buried under the wreckage are Mrs. Cordelia Trudeau, of Chassel, Mich., and Mrs. Ida Anderson, of Tappelo, Mich. The women who were removed shortly before midnight, is Mrs. Minnie Johnson. Most of the victims were aged residents of the three-story brick building, which housed 118 persons.

William Wahl, superintendent of the infirmary and Fire Chief Ray Eggleston, who directed the rescue work with a makeshift lighting arrangement after the crash had out of the infirmary's power, said if the chimney had fallen on the east wing of the infirmary, where 100 men and women are quartered, the loss of life would have been very heavy.

The nine women in the west wing were quartered on the second floor, the hospital ward. It was a temporary arrangement, pending the completion of their quarters on the third floor.

As the impact of bricks struck the roof, timbers and floors splintered and gave way with a deafening crash, plunging the place into darkness and hurling the hapless victims into the wreckage of the kitchen floor.

For hours, firemen from Hancock and Houghton dug their way through the mass of brick and splintered timbers to reach the three buried victims after the other six had been taken out.

Guided by the cries of the three trapped women, the firemen finally reached one of them, and carried her to the ground. When they returned, the cries of the others were stilled. The rescuers found that further progress could not be made for several hours until the part of the timbers ripped from ceilings and floors, had been removed.
